

In Ellen's house it is warm and toasty while fuzzies play in the snow outside.

Computer programmers never die, they just get lost in the processing.